

I believe that the ease with which the Bush administration won the support of a significant portion of the American people for their unprovoked invasion of Iraq is evidence enough that the FCC has gone too far in allowing the consolidation of news reporting across all media and across geographic areas to be held by too few hands.

I ask you to NOT make the situation still worse, but to find ways to reverse the trend as technological advances make change possible.

Thank you.